Auto Union Chief Called 'Giant Among Men'

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP)—Reuther was eulogized as "a giant among men" and "an architect of ideas" as the nation and his United Auto Workers Union paid final tribute to him and his wife, May, in simple, yet moving funeral services Friday.

There were 11 speakers, but no religious rites for Reuther, reared a Lutheran, and his wife, reared in Judaism. They and four others died in a union-chartered jet plane's crash in northern Lower Michigan last weekend.

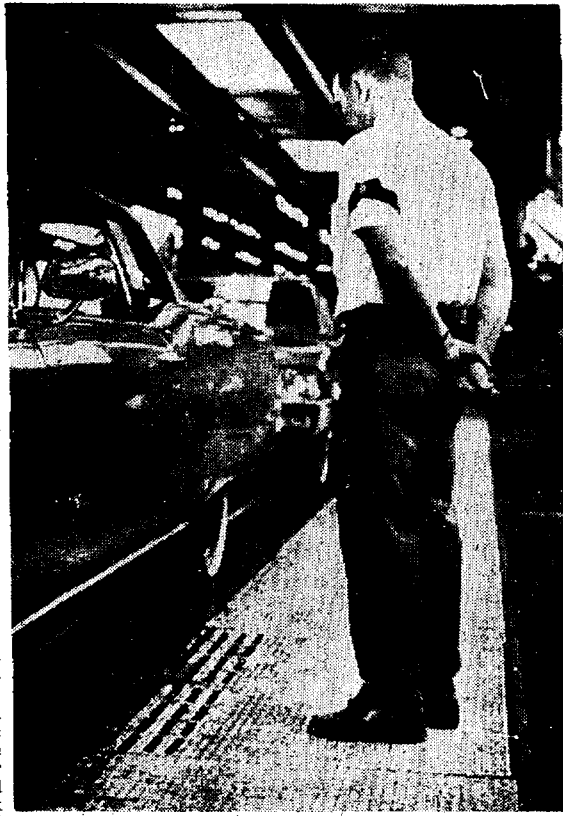

There was no funeral procession. The bodies were to be cremated.

More than 3,000 crowded Ford Auditorium in Detroit's Civic Center for the services while hundreds more heard them over loudspeakers outside, and still thousands more who took the day off to mourn gathered in union halls to watch and hear by television and radio.

In many auto plants, workers were sent home when absenteeism prevented assembly lines from operating, or when workers walked out after observing a period of silence in memory of Reuther.

Spokesmen for the companies said more than 31,000 workers were idled by the plant shutdowns in Michigan, Ohio, Georgia, Missouri and Illinois. At the funeral, titans of industry and government mingled with those from the work benches of the automotive, aerospace, agricultural implements and kindred industries where the UAW's 1.6 million members labor.

Dave Miller, chairman of the UAW's Retired Workers Council, eulogized the UAW president with whom he fought years' union battles as "a man who created a new life

CORETTA'S EULOGY
Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., remembered Reuther as "one who was always there when the storm clouds were thickest... a man who marched with us and one who had the courage to be right in the minority when it was right." Miller also recalled Reuther's having told him that "before a man can serve God he must prove himself by serving mankind."

Offensive Launched By Enemy

American Death Count Reaches 132

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Between 5,000 and 6,000 American troops have been withdrawn from operations inside Cambodia in the past five days, informed sources said today. They said between 9,000 and 10,000 Americans remain beyond the border.

The disclosure coincided with an announcement by the U.S. Command of the end of the American portion of a major operation in the Communist command's Se San base area of Cambodia, 50 miles west of Pleiku City in the central highlands. It marked the first termination of a major U.S. operation inside Cambodia since American offensives across the border were launched May 1.

As more Americans reportedly were being pulled out of Cambodia, North Vietnamese troops launched a third successive counterattack against U.S. bases across the border.

Officers in the field told Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett it appeared the North Vietnamese were regrouping and starting to hit back after initial retreat from the massive allied invasion.

Enemy troops hit the American defenders of the newly built Fire Base Branch in the middle of the night with a hail of machine-gun, rocket and rifle fire. Five U.S. soldiers were killed and nine wounded.

The Americans lowered their artillery and fired point blank at the attackers, while Air Force gunships raked them from the air.

When dawn broke, the U.S. troops found the bodies of eight North Vietnamese soldiers on the barbed wire perimeter of the base.

The base is about 90 miles north of Saigon and a mile inside Cambodia.

DEATH TOLL CLIMBS
The U.S. Command said the latest fighting raised to 132 the number of American troops killed and to 506 the number wounded in the Cambodian offensive.

Deeper inside Cambodia, beyond the 21.7-mile limit that is placed on American ground troops, North Vietnamese troops were reported in the suburbs of Kompong Cham, 35 miles west of the nearest point on the Vietnamese border and 45 miles northeast of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from the field that South Vietnamese bombers attacked North Vietnamese positions on the outskirts of Kompong Cham and across the Mekong River where an estimated 500 to 1,000 enemy troops reportedly were dug in.

South Vietnamese military sources said the situation "looks very bad" for the besieged Cambodian defenders.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces have begun drives in southern Laos and Cambodia.

Sen. Inouye Says War Was 'Tragic Mistake'

Former 'Hawk' Now 'Dove'

By ORVIN JOHNSON
Staff Writer

U. S. Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, who once supported the Vietnam war and is now opposed, believes the war will end only when we admit to ourselves — and to the world — that we made a tragic mistake.

"This is a difficult admission to make," he told members of the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan last night, "especially when we remind ourselves of the enormity of this war's cost. Few want to admit error in judgment — and even fewer when it involves a cost of nearly 50,000 American lives."

Inouye grew up in Hawaii, a member of a missionary family. As a boy he sang in the church choir and taught Sunday school. At 18, he enlisted in the army and went to war in Europe as a private in the famed 442nd Infantry Battalion, composed of soldiers of Japanese descent.

Overseas he felt a deep hatred of the Germans, he said, and for his "efficiency" in fighting them he received a battlefield commission and the Distinguished Service Cross, the Bronze Star, and the Purple Heart, with cluster. He lost an arm in the war.

WANTS PEACE

Now for his son, Inouye said he wants peace. He urged the audience to "see to it your sons do not go through something like this, which all the church-going does not clean up."

The Democratic Senator from Hawaii is assistant majority whip and a member of the powerful Armed Services committee and Commerce committee. He is also a member of the Senate Policy committee and chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign committee.

Inouye opposed the recent Cambodian invasion: "I deplore the President's decision to launch an American attack into Cambodia. I regret and disagree with his decision to send material to the troops of Lon Nol."

He dismissed Vietnamization as a solution to the war: "The success of Vietnamization demands the military success of the government of Saigon and the defeat of the Communist (See back page, sec. 1, col. 4)

In Fatal Black Panther Raid U.S. Jury Rebukes Law Officers

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury has rebuked law enforcement agencies involved in a fatal raid on Black Panther party members and its subsequent investigation.

No one was indicted. The grand jury's 252-page report, issued Friday, says the work of the law officers involved "gives some reasonable basis for public doubt of their efficiency or even of their credibility."

Two Panther leaders, Fred Hampton and Mark Clark, were killed when Negro and white police from the state's attorney's office raided Hampton's apartment Dec. 4 in a search for illegal weapons.

The whole concept of the raid, the jury said, "seems ill-conceived."

The grand jury also was critical of seven Panther members who survived the raid for refusing to testify at its hearings.

The report had harsh words for the Black Panther party.

"The Panther tactics and policies help create much of the very tension and conflict they have complained of in this and other cases," the jury reported.

The jury was commissioned to determine whether the civil rights of the persons in Hampton's apartment had been violated.

REFUSE TO TESTIFY

The grand jury said it was impossible to determine whether there had been a violation of anyone's civil rights without the testimony of the surviving Panther members. They refused to take the witness stand, the survivors said, because the jury was not composed of their peers.

While the Panthers were criticized, the bulk of the report centered on law officers.

Police officers who participated in the raid said the Panthers fired at least 10 to 15 shots at them, the jury found.

Yet, it said, "only one bullet hole, one shell and one projectile... can be identified ballistically as having been fired by the apartment occupants."

The grand jury said policemen fired 82 to 99 shots.

The Police Department's internal investigations division "was so seriously deficient" in (See back page, sec. 1, col. 8)

The Paunchies Do Their Thing

Everyone has heard of the Peace Corps, which has been essentially, though not entirely, a channel through which the energy and idealism of thousands of young Americans have been mobilized to help the peoples of the underdeveloped world better their lives.

Not so well known is what is sometimes affectionately referred to as the "Paunch Corps," an organization of "old" people motivated by the same kind of idealism.

This is the International Executive Service Corps, formed in 1964 by a group of American businessmen headed by David Rockefeller of the Chase Manhattan Bank with the goal of fostering economic growth and strengthening private enterprise in developing countries.

The idea was to recruit experienced executives to serve on short term assignments overseas, working with local businesses which requested their particular expertise or managerial skill. Since beginning operations in January, 1965, the IESC has answered requests for assistance from some 2,000 enterprises in 45 countries in Latin America, the Middle East, Africa and South and East Asia.

Volunteer executives have helped improve food production and health standards, textile and apparel manufacture, investment and banking practices, construction methods, transportation systems, communications, natural resource development, government and education services.

With many developing nations bidding strongly for foreign visitors, IESC experts have undertaken about 70 hotel and tourist promotion programs in 13 countries. One recent assignment was the development of a park, recreation area and marine-life showplace by the Republic of Singapore with the assistance of the director of Chicago's Shedd Aquarium. In a similar project, a top zoologist, the director of the Milwaukee County Zoo, was recruited to advise the city of Cali, Colombia, on plans for a new zoo.

Nine of the volunteer executives have been women, including a magazine food editor who was sent to Iran, a hospital administrator to Greece, a trade exhibit adviser to Honduras, and a shoe pattern and fitting specialist in her 70s who advised a shoe manufacturer in Panama.

Most of the executives are recently retired, though some are still in active careers and are given leaves of absence by their companies. Except for travel and living expenses, they serve without compensation.

While supported in part by the U.S. Agency for International Development, the IESC also receives financial sponsorship from over 200 major U.S. corporations. Each foreign firm contributes toward the costs of its project.

The IESC, with headquarters in New York is managed independently by private businessmen. President is Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and chief executive of General Dynamics Corp.

Youth has the vision and the energy to change the world. Age has the experience and judgment and practical know-how. The qualities of enthusiasm and wisdom have been combined to a remarkable degree in the International Executive Service Corps.

More power to the "Paunch Corps."

Politics In The House Of Wax

Next to the grave, the most egalitarian place on earth is undoubtedly Madame Tussaud's wax museum. Where else could one imagine Teddy Roosevelt standing next to Yuri Gagarin or a crew-cut Neil Armstrong peering over a black veiled Madame du Barry? In fact, the likeness of the 22-year-old mistress of King Louis XV is the original model shown in the Paris exhibition of 1770.

Fame is the sole criterion for selection at Madame Tussaud's establishment on Baker Street, which is celebrating its 200th anniversary this year. But the population of the Grand Hall is a shifting one. Ben Gurion of Israel stands not far from Nasser of Egypt.

Unlike the British government, Madame Tussaud's accords Ian Smith the title of "Prime Minister of Rhodesia." However, because of the tenuousness of his position, Smith peers cautiously around a curtain, uncertain of his welcome in a group of Commonwealth premiers.

Madame Tussaud, born Marie Gresholtz, made her first wax figures when in her teens. A portrait of Voltaire, shaped when she was 17, is still in the exhibit. However, she gained her fame for moulding the head of almost every distinguished victim of the guillotine during the French revolution. In 1800, Napoleon sat for her in the Tuileries.

In 1802 Madame Tussaud left France for England with her exhibition, never to return. For the next 33 years she toured England. Finally, at the age of 74, she opened a permanent exhibition on Baker Street. There she sold tickets at the door until her death at the age of 89. After Mme. Tussaud's death in 1850, the exhibit was moved to Marylebone Road. A fire in 1925 destroyed several displays but many of the casts were saved and in 1928 the exhibit was reopened. It received only minor damage during the Second World War.

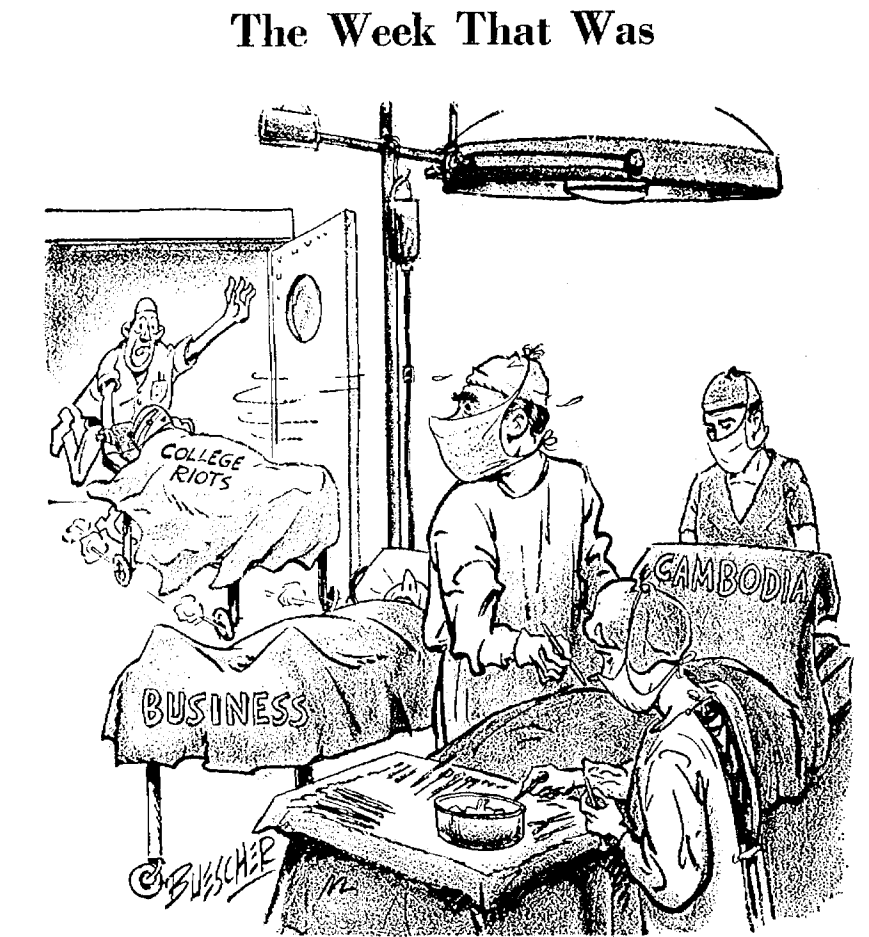

Her establishment attracts close to 1,250,000 visitors a year, more than a third from overseas, anxious to see everything from the Chamber of Horrors, with such featured assassins as Lee Harvey Oswald, to the Hall of Kings. Benjamin Franklin was the first American to sit for a wax portrait in 1793. Now there is a pantheon of American Presidents ranging from George Washington to Richard Nixon.

The greatest humiliation is to be dropped from the exhibit. Close to 10 per cent of the 450 figures are vetoed each year. Robert Kennedy and Alexander Dubeck were excluded in 1969, as were Alfred Hitchcock and Sophia Loren.

The effect of age can be most upsetting to the living sitters. Actor Kenneth More was visibly shaken at an encounter with his younger self at Tussaud's anniversary dinner in March. Earl Mountbatten refuses to sit for an up-to-date portrait because he prefers to be remembered as he was in the days of glory.

Occasionally, figures are defaced. Hitler was found in 1940 with a ring of pins around his heart. Lord Snowden's head was removed to a public telephone booth in 1960 and President Tito's head was found rolling in front of the door of the Yugoslav Embassy in 1965. Most people are kept from touching the faces by the eerie, life-like quality of the wax itself.

About the strangest social comment in the exhibit are the figures of Jackie and Aristotle Onassis seated on an eternal merry-go-round with "horse heads" of singers and politicians. As a director of the joint stock company told Editorial Research Reports, "One can only wonder how many of today's celebrities will be included in Tussaud's tercentenary."

DR. COLEMAN ..And Speaking Of Your Health

Summer and fall sufferers of allergy may look with hope to the possibility of greater relief from a new discovery that seems to have validity. A new type of nasal spray can now be made from a person's own blood and used to relieve the annoying symptoms so well-known to hay fever sufferers.

Hay fever, of course, is a general term used by allergic people who are sensitive to the fall goldenrod and ragweed pollen. It also includes sensitivity to roses, June grasses, flowers and trees.

Dr. John T. Connell and Dr. Donald E. Klein reported the use of a serum as a nasal spray. It contained a special type of antibody whose action is yet not completely known. That which is exciting is that these preliminary trials were met with enthusiasm by allergy specialists at recent meetings of the American Academy of Allergy.

A complex method of preparation of this particular type of serum was devised and used experimentally with rewarding and successful results.

As I have previously stated in many of these columns all the new information that hopeful news contains is well-known to your own doctor. It is not the private possession of any one person. When the initial results are substantiated, the serum will be used to reduce the unpleasant and debilitating symptoms that only hay fever sufferers really understand.

A new drug, Rifampin, seems to be one of the most effective ones now available for the treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. William Lester of the Jewish Hospital and Research Center in Denver said that "this broad-spectrum antibiotic has been lifesaving for a number of patients whose tuberculosis could not be controlled with other drugs now available."

This is particularly exciting because contrary to common knowledge, tuberculosis still is an active disease in all parts of the world. Even in the United States, which is considered to be medically privileged in most instances, tuberculosis still occurs with surprising frequency.

Rifampin was successfully used in a group of thirty patients whose lives were threatened by advanced tuberculosis. This new antibiotic seems to be effective and to have few if any toxic side effects.

A new vaccine for spinal meningitis is being tried with highly encouraging results. This is most important because meningitis still occurs with great frequency among newly recruited army men — even those who are in excellent health.

Dr. Irving Goldschneider of the University of Connecticut Health Center developed the new vaccine and has already used it safely in thousands of cases.

It is hoped that soon the vaccine will be available for general use by the public and that it will stamp out another life threatening disease.

Seward, who had a fairly distinguished career as a governor, senator and presidential nominee, made the mistake of thinking that, as secretary of State, he could dominate Lincoln. Lincoln soon showed him how wrong he was.
Seward's career included the governorship of New York and, in 1848, a seat in the U.S. Senate.
An opponent of slavery, he attacked the Compromise of 1850 and the Kansas-Nebraska Act, claiming that the struggle over slavery entailed irrepressible conflict between North and South.

He tried unsuccessfully to win the presidential nomination of the Republican Party in 1860. After Lincoln straightened Seward out, Seward became one of the greatest American secretaries of State.
He carried on a successful foreign policy during the Civil War and later secured the withdrawal of French troops from Mexico.
On the night of Lincoln's assassination, Seward, who was recovering from injuries sustained in an accident, was wounded by an accomplice of John Wilkes Booth.
Seward remained in office as secretary of State under President Andrew Johnson in the post-Civil War era.
Seward's name is linked in American history to one of the most farsighted acts — the purchase of Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million. For that action, his critics referred to Alaska as "Seward's Folly."

RELIGION TODAY U.S. Senate To Appoint New Chaplain Annually

By LESTER KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON, D.C. — Introducing Senate Resolution 90, pertaining to the office of Chaplain of the Senate, New Jersey's Sen. Harrison Williams reminded his colleagues of James Madison's strong objection when the post was created in 1793.

Sen. Williams mentioned that the Fourth President had warned that such a chaplaincy would violate the First Amendment's prohibition of an establishment of religion. He also noted the modern fulfillment of another of Madison's warnings, that there would be discrimination in the appointment of such a chaplain against the (then) smaller denominations, such as Catholics and Jews.

This was an accurate prediction, as is seen in the fact that although Catholics have for some time comprised the largest religious affiliation in both the Senate and the population as a whole, there has been only one Catholic Senate Chaplain since 1793, and not a single rabbi.

"Only eight denominations have been represented in the office", Williams told the Senate. (16 Methodists, 15 Episcopalians, 12 Presbyterians, six Baptists, two Unitarians, one Lutheran, one Congregationalist and one Roman Catholic.)

The New Jersey Senator's resolution has since resulted in the Senate's decision to appoint a new Chaplain annually, rather than let the incumbent serve for life. The appointment will also rotate among the nation's three major religious groups.

During an interview with this writer, Sen. Williams said that he had experienced no opposition to his resolution, but rather "A favorable reaction that the various faiths should be represented."

But how about James Madison's contention that any chaplain for the Senate would be a violation of the Constitution? COULD BE QUESTIONED

"If this were tested, I would say that it could go either way. It could be declared unconstitutional", he replied. "Any taxpayer could question this, but no one ever has."

Sen. Williams conceded that chaplains are probably Constitutional whenever they serve people who have been isolated by the government — such as those in the armed forces, hospitals or prisons. (The First Amendment guarantees the "free exercise" of religion, which in many denominations requires clergy for such functions as administering the sacraments.)

"But", said Sen. Williams, "I don't know of anybody less isolated than members of Congress. I cannot think of any group more visible than Congress."

He also conceded that the metropolitan area of Washington contains a great many churches, synagogues and clergy. Wouldn't many of these local clergy be willing to serve as chaplain at no cost to the Federal Government?

"The salary is not extravagant", he answered. "no minister I know is overpaid. The Chaplain's job is not a burden, but a joy — but it is time-consuming."

The present Senate Chaplain is the Rev. Dr. Edward Lee Roy Elson, who is also Senior Minister of Washington's National Presbyterian Church. Until last fall, he was receiving the regular Senate Chaplain's salary of $19,768.84. Then the Senate decided to cut the amount to $10,000, because it was for Dr. Elson a part-time job. (But the Chaplain of the House of Representatives who does no outside work, receives the full amount.)

The Rev. Dr. Elson told this writer that he works "20 to 30 hours per week" at the Chaplain's job, in such functions as: —Opening prayers at sessions of the Senate (a two-minute limit).

"Greeting ecclesiastical guests of the Government, dedicating monuments and giving invocations at State Banquets and upon historical occasions."

Counseling Senators — when asked to do so — on such special requests as one Senator who asked me to give him a memo on "God is dead", and (with the assistance of a full-time Senate Chaplain's secretary) "answering 30 to 50 letters per week."

When asked just what kind of letters he answered, the Rev. Dr. Elson replied: "Oh... well, I get letters from the chaplains of state legislatures asking just what a legislative chaplain should do."

At least the Senate Chaplain has always been a clergyman — in contrast to another Congressional post: the Capitol Architect, who need not even be an architect.

Opening lead — five of clubs. Let's say you're declarer at three notrump and West leads the five of clubs. You win East's jack with the king, but what would you do next?

You might feel tempted to lead the king of diamonds and continue with the nine, planning to finesse the jack, but this would be a mighty dangerous way of playing the hand. In the actual case, you would quickly go down after East won the diamond and returned a club through your Q-9.

As happens so often, you are faced with the proposition that one particular opponent — in this case, East — is much more dangerous to have on lead after trick one than the other.

Avoiding that opponent — whom you should regard as Public Enemy No. 1 — is the nub of the matter, and you should therefore try to find a way of developing nine tricks without permitting East to take the lead for a club return through your Q-9.

In line with this the proper approach, after winning the club at trick one, is to enter dummy with a heart and return a low diamond.

East is forced to follow low, whereupon you finesse the nine. In the actual hand, West wins with the ten but he has no way of stopping you from making five diamond tricks, three hearts, a spade and a club. Your passive action pays off extremely well.

In a slightly different hand, West might have to win the nine with the queen, and there are other possibilities also, but there is no doubt that this calculated effort to keep East out of the lead is by far the best approach to the play of the hand.

Alden Bierman -- Man Who Made BHHS Tick

By JIM SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Around Benton Harbor high school there's a saying that "if you want something done, have Aldy do it."

Well, Aldy won't be there next year to do it. He's retiring after 32 years in the Benton Harbor school system.

Alden M. Bierman, 61, says he'll be looking for a job. "Something like two days a week from 9 to 11 in the morning." But he has so many irons in the fire that complete retirement seems impossible.

Bierman, assistant principal since 1951, will be honored at an open house tomorrow from 3 to 5 p.m. in the high school library. District residents and other friends are invited to meet him in his realm — the board of education voted this week to name the library after him.

Aldy is about as much Benton

Harbor as anyone could be. Born here, reared here, employed here in contact with thousands and thousands of youths.

He's always had an affinity for athletics — a fondness more of desire than ability. "I was the 26th man on a football squad of 28. The fourth miler in a group of four, who once huffed and puffed to a fastest time of 4:58."

PICTURE IN ANNUAL

Aldy's rubbed elbows with some of the great names in Benton Harbor sports history — coached with Fred Sickels at junior, helped Bill Orwig with the third team. "For that I got my picture in the annual."

He's traveled continuously with the basketball team since 1948 as a chauffeur, score keeper and anything else that Don Farman or Ace Elsner asked. He's kept time at football games and even had a voluntary hand in cross country.

But it's not all fun and games.

Asked the difference between students today and when he started teaching, Aldy replied: "We used to have control over them. Now they question it. Maybe they are thinking more today. But it seems like the parents can't control them so they expect the schools to do the job."

His current assignment is business manager for senior high ordering supplies and handling the nitty-gritty details. He may be on the job much of the summer after his contract expires. "I'll be ordering books and other things, whether I get paid or not, so it will be a little smoother for the next gang that takes over."

A graduate of Western Michigan with a master's degree from University of Michigan, Bierman was at Benton Harbor junior high, 1932-42. He then left the school system to work a year as Boy Scout field executive in southwestern Michigan and five years at the YMCA as youth director.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL

The year of 1948 was momentous at BHHS. Bill Perigo left and Principal Charles Semler lured Aldy back into the school system — not as a coaching replacement for Perigo but a math and civics teacher.

In 1951, he took the assistant principalship for a year on a trial basis and the job stuck. He was top administrator at the school for four months in 1962-63 and let it be known that he wasn't a candidate for the head job. The board of education voted him a commendation for "fine administrative leadership" while acting principal.

Besides school, he has a host of other activities that won't let him go — work in the Fairplain Presbyterian church, secretary-treasurer of the Berrien County Chapter of the Mental Health society, the Easter Seal Campaign for crippled children, UCF and others.

"I'm also treasurer of the Lake Michigan Athletic conference. I opened my big mouth at a meeting once and suggested a continuing treasurer was needed. You know who got the job."

Aldy plans to do a little traveling. As for formal employment, well? He says he's definitely not interested in going back to the classroom.

Bierman and his wife, Alice, are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Bruce (Barbara) (See back page, sec. 1, col. 7)

Yank Who Is There Backs Nixon Policy

St. Joseph Major Deplores Reaction At Home

Strong endorsement of U.S. involvement in Cambodia — from someone who is there — came this week in a Mother's day letter to Mrs. Charles Klug, St. Joseph.

Major Charles E. Klug of the Seventh Air Force sent his mother orchids from Hawaii and a hard-hitting letter from Cambodia.

Major Klug, 39, with 17 years in the service at bases scattered around the world, wrote the following to his mother:

"I arrived in Vietnam on April 11. I'll be here exactly one year and should be leaving April 10, 1971. Since I arrived, in fact two days after I arrived, I became deeply involved in the action that is going on right now."

AN ANALOGY

"You can imagine what has been going on over here to say a bunch of gangsters living in one community and going to an adjacent town every night and robbing, killing, breaking into houses and raping all the women they can find, then returning home the next morning and resting up for the next night's vandalism."

"This is an analogy but it is exactly what has been happening here for the past eight years or more. The enemy has had the sanctuary of Cambodia; they have come across at night, killed our young boys and fled back to Cambodia to rest up for the next night's killings."

"I cannot understand how anyone with a sound mind can stand up and accuse Nixon of doing something wrong by sending our boys into Cambodia. Yet some senators are saying he is wrong and we should pull out. They of all people have been briefed and know what has really been going on and should be on Nixon's side."

WILL HELP CONFLICT

"Whether they like it or not (the dissident senators) what we are doing here now is going to help to end this conflict."

"Mom, I'm sorry, this is a heck of a mother's day letter but I had to get it off my chest. I'm really disgusted the way some of our U.S. citizens have been reacting. You would think we were the bad guys and the communists are the good guys."

"I wouldn't impeach them (senators opposing the Cambodian involvement) I would send them to Hanoi, North Vietnam as their advisors. We would be better off if they were in Hanoi."

Major Klug attended Tulane university, New Orleans, La., for two years and received his B. A. degree from Eastern Michigan university, Ypsilanti, before joining the airforce Nov. 10, 1953.

PILOT 12 YEARS

He was a pilot for 12 years and is now in the security and intelligence division of the Strategic Air Command. He has been stationed at Randolph field, Texas; Goose Bay, Labrador; Selfridge field, Detroit; (See back page, sec. 1, col. 5)

No Decision Yet On Full Attendance

Reduced Class Sessions Smooth Thursday, Friday

It's sophomores only at Benton Harbor high school Monday as a reduced attendance basis will continue for a third day.

Principal Fred Murray said the decision to limit attendance Monday to sophomores was made after a conference with faculty. "The faculty felt the sophomores needed the experience of seeing how a school should run without overcrowded conditions."

School ran very smoothly Thursday with seniors only and Friday when juniors and seniors attended, Murray said. Classes were dismissed Wednesday noon as a result of a disturbance that produced several minor fights and a black-white confrontation.

An excellent educational environment existed the past two days and the faculty felt sophomores should have a similar opportunity, Murray explained. Nearly 900 sophomores are enrolled, 487 juniors and 588 seniors.

The real decision on resuming full operations is in the hands of the students. Murray said if necessary "measures will be taken to reduce the number of students" to a controllable amount.

Sophomores must report by 8 a.m. Monday and present ID cards for admission. ID cards will be issued from 7 to 7:15 a.m. for those who don't have them.

Trio Jumped Him, Cut His Hair, Youth Says

A St. Joseph youth lodged a complaint against three adults Friday for forcibly cutting his hair.

Berrien county sheriff's deputies reported the 16-year old boy complained the trio jumped him as he entered his apartment. He said they took him to a barber after cutting off portions of his hair themselves.

Police said the youth recently had rented the apartment alone.

No arrests were made pending the signing of a formal complaint by the youth.

BH District Residents Invited To Guest Night

The welcome mat is out for Benton Harbor school district residents as the Citizens Advisory committee holds its annual guest night Monday at 7:30 p.m. in senior high library.

Carl Coon of the CAC said the millage election on June 8 and other school issues will be discussed.

Three Discharged BH Officers Appeal To Civil Service Board

Three officers fired from the Benton Harbor police force in April are appealing the discharges through the city's civil service board.

Miss Dorothy Gridley, city personnel director, said a hearing is scheduled for the trio at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the public library.

The three are Herman Pollard Jr., 28, Robert Massengale, 30, and James Whitaker, 30. Chief William McClaran fired the three following an investigation.

Pollard was arrested on two charges of violating the pandering law section on enticing women for prostitution and fired April 23. The case stemmed from an alleged incident which occurred April 13 while Pollard was off-duty.

The six-year veteran of the force received a preliminary hearing on the charges Thursday in Fifth District court and was bound over to Circuit Court for further proceedings. Bond remained at $500 on each count.

Massengale was also discharged on April 23 on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. Whitaker was placed on an indefinite suspension the same day on a similar charge. He was fired April 28. Massengale and Whitaker both joined the force in 1967.

Under city civil service procedures, dismissals or suspensions may be appealed to the commission within 10 days. A hearing is to be held within 20 days later.

The commission members are the Rev. Ellis Marshburn, acting chairman; the Rev. Donald Atkins, and Rex Sheeley, former city commissioner and ex-chairman of the commissions committee dealing with the police department.

BH Police Detective Is Injured

Two Arrested At Junior High

Benton Harbor Det. Harry Lenardson was assaulted and a squad car damaged Friday afternoon by youths near Benton Harbor junior high school as police were making an arrest in the street.

The disorder occurred at Broadway and Kirby street and was watched by an estimated 100-200 youths, most of whom had just been dismissed from school. Officers from Benton Harbor, Benton township and Berrien county were called to the scene. The original complaint was a fight between black youths with wrath then directed at police.

Lenardson was injured after arresting a 14-year-old girl for fighting with an unidentified male student. A 13-year-old sister of the girl was arrested in the aftermath. Lenardson, kicked and punched by students in the crowd, was treated for a possible broken nose at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, and released. The injury was caused when a blow shattered his glasses. He said he didn't know if he was struck by a rock or a fist.

JUVENILE INJURED

The 14-year-old was treated for a possible arm injury. She was placed in the county juvenile detention home pending appearance before juvenile authorities. She was booked on charges of assaulting a police officer, resisting arrest, malicious destruction of property and assault and battery.

The sister was also petitioned to juvenile court. The charge involved the striking of a police cruiser with a baseball bat. She was released to her parents pending court action.

Lenardson said the 14-year-old ran from him and then jumped out of his squad car with the aid of friends after he caught them. The officer said (See back page, sec. 1, col. 3)

Lawrence Doctor To Be Honored

Retiring After 39 Years

By STEVE McQUOWN
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Dr. Frederick Boothby, to whom this Van Buren county community will pay a special tribute Sunday, might well be studied as an example for youth and adults to follow.

As a young man, he resumed his high school education at age

21. Today, as a respected member of this community, and on the eve of his retirement, he rides a motorcycle with as much nonchalance as someone a third his age.

But it is his service to the community as a physician for nearly 39 years that is to bring area residents together to express their thanks to the 68-year-old doctor.

PARADE PLANNED

There will be a parade to begin in front of his office at 1:30 p.m. and a reception from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. at the high school.

Interviewed recently at his office, Dr. Boothby admitted that the thought of the Sunday program appeals to him.

"I think every doctor would be pleased by something like this," he said.

When he retires on Aug. 1, he will close the door on a disappearing American figure, the small-town doctor. His retirement also leaves Lawrence without a physician.

Dr. Boothby and his wife Mabel reside on Lake Cora near Lawrence and he rides his motorcycle to work when the weather permits.

He has four married children; a son Charles, a laboratory and X-ray technician engaged in research at Mattawan; three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Lucille) Young, Ukiah, Calif. and Mrs. Wayne (Ellen) Boyd of Paw Paw, both married to physicians; and Mrs. Maurice (Helen) Lange, married to an oral surgeon in California.

He and his wife will move to their home in Florida when they leave Lawrence.

Although he tends to underplay his own work, the 24-hour service, treatment of ills both real and fancied, Dr. Boothby did become excited over the plight of small communities in search of a physician.

"I don't know what the public is going to do," he said.

"Unless there is a change in the medical schools, the small town doctor will disappear completely. Schools these days are teaching specialties and group practice," he said.

"We have to have the specialists," he conceded, "but we still need the family doctor." He said he had been unsuccessful in trying to encourage a younger doctor to settle in Lawrence.

He said that when he moved to Lawrence in 1931 he was advised that he would "starve within six months."

But in reviewing his years in Lawrence, Dr. Boothby said: "I wouldn't trade my country practice for any city practice."

"PART OF FAMILY"

"I know the people and they know me. It has been a very enjoyable experience. I've always been treated like part of the family," he said.

Dr. Boothby was born in Kalamazoo on March 13, 1902. He was one of eight children. His parents moved to a 40-acre farm near Gobles where he attended school.

He dropped out of high school at the end of his freshman year and returned to Kalamazoo where he worked in a paper mill and as a mechanic.

He subsequently moved to Hinsdale, Ill. where he studied nursing and got his exposure to medicine.

At 21, and married, he decided to become a physician. He went back to high school, graduated and went on to pre-medical school in LaGrange, Ill., and from there to California where he took medical school and completed his internship in 1931.

Now, 39 years, countless house calls and an estimated 2,500 child births later, Dr. Fred, as he is known to his patients and friends, is ready to retire.

At 68, he is lithe and active. Beside riding his motorcycle, until recently he was water skier and pilot of an airplane around the countryside.

Declining health, he said, prevents him from participating in those activities as much as he would like.

His short-cropped grey hair, square face and discerning eyes contribute to an appearance that belies his 68 years.

"PARTNERSHIP"

Dr. Boothby also credits abstinence from use of tobacco and alcohol as contributing to health, and what he described as a "partnership" with his religion which gave him confidence in himself and medicine.

An elder in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Dr. Boothby said "medicine and faith go hand in hand."

While he expressed marvel at the advancement in medicine over the last 35 years, he accused the sciences of becoming "too self-centered."

He said: "I never would have had the faith to do the major surgery I have done without religious belief."

MAN OF MEDICINE: Dr. Frederick Boothby, Lawrence family physician for almost 39 years, will be honored by community residents Sunday with parade and open house. Quiet-spoken doctor plans retirement which will leave Van Buren county community without a physician. (Staff photo)

Gas Station Robbed By Pair Of Gunmen

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN—Two gunmen slugged and robbed an attendant at an all-night service station in South Haven early today.

City police said two Negro males, armed with a rifle, escaped with $200 in bills and change, from the Super Par station which is located at Broadway avenue and Chambers street, at approximately 4:35 a.m.

Attendant Martin Voisard, 621 Church street, South Haven, was struck behind the left ear with the rifle after he told the gunmen he was unable to open a safe in the station. He was knocked to the floor, but did not require medical attention.

Voisard told officers he was in a back room at the station when the gunmen entered. They ordered him to stand in a corner, opened a cash drawer, and emptied the money tray. He told the intruders that only the manager was able to open the safe then he was struck.

The gunmen ripped out the telephone before they made their escape in a car which was parked in a driveway on Chambers street.

A witness, who was parked in a car about a block from the station, saw the suspects leave the scene at a high rate of speed.

The witness, whom police did not identify, took pursuit in his car. He chased the car west on Chambers to Center street, and south on Center to Aylworth avenue, where the holdup car went out of control. It skidded across the lawn in front of the National Guard Armory, jumped a ditch and returned to Aylworth. The gunmen drove east on Aylworth to M-43 where they were able to elude their pursuer.

Voisard meanwhile alerted police from a nearby telephone booth. An area blockade failed to uncover the late model car.

It was the second holdup of a South Haven station in two weeks. Gunmen took approximately $500 from Stieves 66 Station on M-140 at I-196 on May 7.

SJ Student Wins Study Fellowship

GERALD SIVULKA

An honor student from St. Joseph at the University of Michigan has been awarded a $2,400 National Science Foundation fellowship to study computer information and control engineering.

Gerald Sivulka, a senior at U-M and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sivulka, 317 Kingsley avenue, St. Joseph, won the award plus tuition for two and a half terms beginning next fall.

He will graduate with a bachelor's degree in aerospace in June and continue his studies towards a master's degree this summer.

Professor Louis F. Kazda, chairman of the national fellowship committee, named Sivulka for the honor that enables him to study automatic and feedback control systems and communication theory under the computer program.

Last December Gerald was project director for a team of 16 aerospace engineering students who designed a satellite that would create a constant communication link between the earth and astronauts on the far side of the moon.

He has been on the dean's list for scholastic honors since his freshman year when he went to school with a $4,000 four-year scholarship from Whirlpool Corp. in St. Joseph.

A 1966 graduate of St. Joseph high school, Gerald was president of his class, the National Honor Society, a starting tackle on the Bear's football team, a student council member, and national science merit scholarship winner in math.

At U-M he is a member of Tau Beta Pi, scholastic honor engineering fraternity.

Girls Win Honors At Lakeshore High

Outstanding Students Get Special Awards

Two girls won top honors at Lakeshore high school this week, as Miss Diane Pihulic was named valedictorian and Miss Sally Quardokus was named salutatorian.

The top graduating seniors were announced during the annual Honors Night Thursday for the school in the high school cafeteria.

School department directors and community leaders presented special awards and scholarships to outstanding members of the senior class. Recognition also was given to all students who compiled a grade average of "B" or better during the first semester of the current school year. Included were 51 seniors, 51 juniors and 70 sophomores.

Miss Pihulic, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pihulic, 1768 West Glenford road, Stevensville. She maintains a "better - than - possible" grade average of 4.429.

Miss Quardokus, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Quardokus, 4410 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville. She has earned a 4.286 grade average.

Schools Superintendent Lionel Stacey said that while the regular average for straight A grades would be 4, the Lakeshore district uses a "weighted" percentage system for outstanding students whose subjects are all in strictly academic classes. Through this system, said Stacey, it's possible to accumulate more than a 4 point average.

Miss Pihulic plans to attend Hope college at Holland next fall and major in either music or mathematics. Last night she received the Bausch and Lomb science award, the highest offered in science; a Hope college scholarship; and a Michigan Competitive scholarship.

In school here, Miss Pihulic has been active in Future Teachers of America, which she now serves as president; the Spanish club; the Girls Athletic association and the school newspaper.

Miss Quardokus plans to enter Western Michigan university and major in special education. She won a Michigan Competitive scholarship and was a finalist in the Whirlpool Corp. scholarship program.

Miss Quardokus was vice president of her freshman class, served on the junior varsity and varsity cheerleader team, and was a member of the Tri-Hi-Y club.

Joel Carr, high school principal, awarded the "honor cord" citations to Miss Pihulic and Miss Quardokus and also to other top seniors who maintained at least a 3.5 grade average during their high school careers.

Other recipients were, John Gray, Michael Stump, Linda Gast, Diana Hendrix, Debbie Amneigh, James Dutcher, Neal Forrester, Bradley Bayless, Teresa Wainscott, Robert Burakoff, Gary Gaul, Hugh Haynes

Tear Gas Disperses MSU Students Milliken Removes Curfew In Ypsilanti

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. William Milliken removed the curfew and restrictions on sale of alcoholic beverages and gasoline at Ypsilanti Friday, where about 175 persons were arrested during the week in demonstrations at Eastern Michigan University.

However, Milliken allowed his proclamation declaring a state of emergency to remain in effect, so that if necessary the curfew could be reinstated promptly.

Meanwhile, a 54-year-old East Lansing man was charged Friday as a result of an auto-bile striking and injuring 11 demonstrators during a peace march on the State Capitol Thursday. None of the marchers was seriously injured.

William Bennett was arraigned in Lansing Municipal Court on charges of felonious driving and driving under the influence of alcohol. He pleaded innocent, demanded court examination and was released on $500 bond.

The charge of felonious driving carries, upon conviction, a maximum penalty of two years in jail or a $1,000 fine.

Campus police at Michigan

State University reported a calm morning after tear gas was used Friday night to break up a small demonstration outside the MSU ROTC building.

About 100 students who had been occupying Demonstration Hall all day refused to leave when the building was closed at 6:00 p.m. Police were called and the students left when the police threatened them with arrest if they didn't move.

The students then moved out of the building and congregated outside. Police again ordered the crowd to disperse and tear gas was used in an effort to scatter the crowd. Some windows were reported broken by rocks.

The students then dispersed and the police withdrew from the area.

Milliken took the action of removing the curfew—which he imposed for the previous two nights—following relative quiet at Ypsilanti. Police said 41 arrests were made Thursday night and early Friday for curfew violations, but there was no recurrence of violence which broke out earlier this week.

The student demonstrators protested U.S. involvement in Cambodia, the deaths of Kent State students, and local issues.

Meanwhile, 113 Eastern Michigan students were suspended or put on probation as a result of campus strife, which began Monday night. Ypsilanti Mayor Richard Boatwright put a limited curfew around the campus area Monday night, but then contacted Gov. Milliken the next night and the state of emergency was proclaimed for the entire town.

Milliken's curfew was in effect between the hours of 8 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Union Restrained By Judge

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns this week signed a temporary restraining order preventing United Steelworkers union officers and members from interfering with property, patrons and employees of Jemco, Inc., of Buchanan, which the union struck May 1.

The order, based on a suit filed Wednesday by the company, also prohibits the defendants from putting more than four pickets at any entrance of the plant.

The Jemco suit names the national union and local 6501 of the steelworkers plus 14 persons as defendants, claiming Jemco property has been trespassed, plant windows broken, traffic disrupted and company customers, delivery men and employees blocked and coerced.

The judge set an order to show cause for May 20 at 9:30 a.m. in circuit court as to why a preliminary injunction against the union and members should not be issued.

Jemco also seeks damages of $250 daily for interference, $5,000 daily for alleged unlawful acts and $10,000 exemplary damages.
